

Writing & Editing for Science Fiction, Fantasy, Horror,
Poetry, and Nonfiction Adult Books
With a focus on helping new writers get published!

HI! I'M HOLLY.

I have a great belief that the best editor for a work is the author. Therefore, when I approach a manuscript, I want to achieve what the author feels the manuscript needs, combined with what the manuscript seems to be asking of me as a reader. My goal in editing is to guide a writer towards being able to make revisions themselves. Often these are more successful than if a writer merely follows my advice. For great writing to happen, something has to break open in the writer and surprise them.

It's that surprise which will catch a reader too.

WRITER, EDITOR, PUBLISHER

I've helped hundreds of writers in a variety of genres! Many of the authors I work with are self-published or new writers who are seeking advice of how to go about publishing, either via traditional or self-publishing routes. I love working with writers of all styles and backgrounds, but I enjoy new writers best because I can guide them in their journey.

With over 7 years of editing experience and 15 years of experience writing, I can help your book stand out!
